FULL CUSTOM

When working with a handcrafted good, the Foglizzo Full Custom program is a creative playground for designers. Here, one can blend traditional with contemporary, experiment with size, number, colour and leather type.

Since 1921, Foglizzo Leather has honed our technical skills alongside the ability to understand and meet our clients' most sophisticated requirements. Because of this history, an ingrained capability for engineering bespoke leather hides that surpass expectations is at the very heart of Foglizzo.

Our design process is one-of-a-kind, completely tailored to express our clients' unique design styles.

THE BRIEF

First, we listen to the client's creative vision, as well as identify specific needs, technical requirements and expectations to develop a comprehensive project brief.

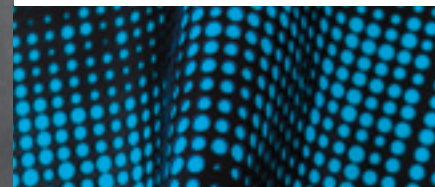

DESIGN PROPOSALS

Once the concept is decided, multiple solutions are discussed and developed in collaboration with the client through media such as hand sketches and computer models. From these, the optimal solution is selected for testing.

THE FINAL PRODUCT

Once a sample has been approved, it enters the first production phase of many. Strict checks and controls at each step ensure the best quality all the way through. Special requests, while welcomed, may require longer production time.

AFTER CARE

As a natural product, leather requires regular maintenance and cleaning. Foglizzo provides premier leather care products and information.

INSPIRATION & RESEARCH

Our approach to a new project depends entirely on the client's project, but research is always an essential component of the design process. We often assemble a moodboard to effectively focus efforts and to communicate our concept.

TEST & DEVELOPMENT

Test samples are produced and submitted to the client for feedback, which is absolutely critical at this stage. Through constant collaboration, we refine, test and improve until the product is perfect. Rigorous testing is conducted on each iteration to verify adherence to the project brief's requirements.

CATALOGUE & SHIPMENT OR INSTALLATION

After every custom project, a piece of the new leather is archived into what has become an essential reference database for future projects.

When it's time to package and ship, Foglizzo's deep understanding of the unique demands of quality leather transport ensures the hide arrives in perfect condition. If needed, an installation support service is available.

TREATMENTS

For generations, Foglizzo has successfully architected the very best solutions to meet the needs and enhance the value of environments designed by our clients. We understand that every application demands a specific performance from its materials.

Water and flame proofing, anti-soiling treatments, dry clean ready, heat and abrasion resistance: these are just a few examples of how we ensure Foglizzo will excel in even your most taxing environments, without eroding the leather's original merit.

Through decades of dedicated research and innovation, Foglizzo has become a globally recognized innovator of high performance leather. We invest heavily in our staff and technologies to continually explore the boundaries of what is possible.

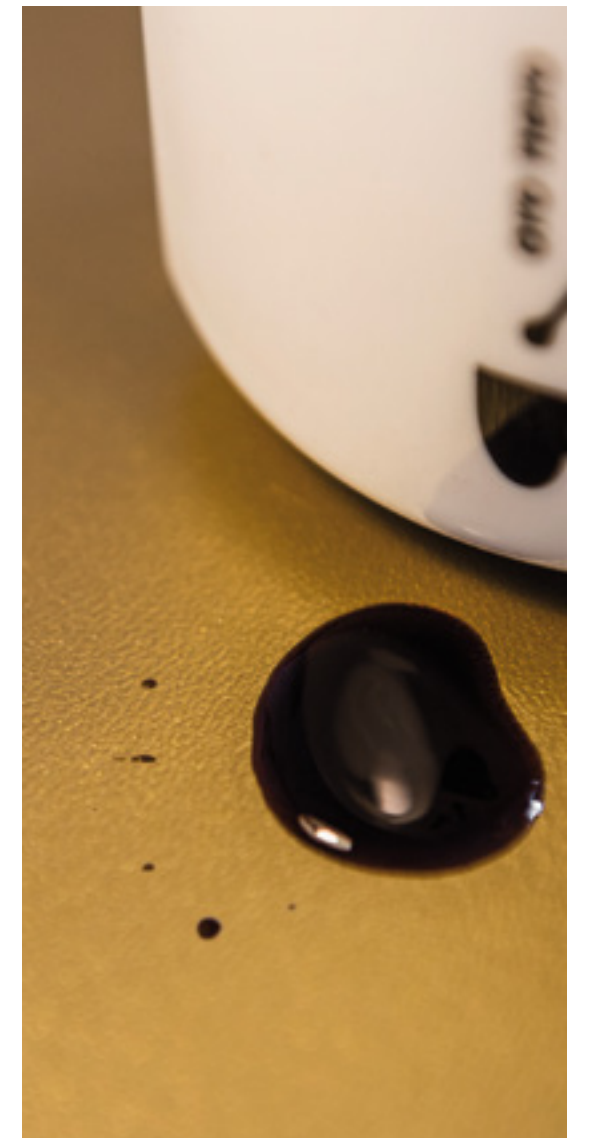

ULTIMATE

When specifying for demanding indoor and outdoor spaces, it can be a challenge to find exquisite materials that are up to the task. Our advanced Ultimate leather treatment was developed for these kinds of environments—such as spas, fitness centers, yachts, terraces and even medical facilities—with unwavering beauty with uncompromising ruggedness.

THERMO LEATHER™

Thermo Leather™ is the newest generation of performance leather, using sun-reflective technology to reduce absorbed energy by 60%.

The temperature difference between standard leather and Thermo Leather™ increases with the duration and intensity of sun exposure: dark Thermo Leather™ can be specified in non traditional applications with significant exposure to sunlight, including automotive, nautical, and outdoor areas and furniture.

AUTOMOTIVE

Foglizzo has a long history as a supplier of high quality leather for antique car restorations. Our custom Automotive regiment ensures technical performance on par with the most stringent industry testing standards, which include rubbing, tearing, fogging, wear and ageing, to name a few. Additionally, our automotive leather is submitted to proofing against oil and water, and the Thermo Leather™ treatment, reducing absorbed energy by 60% when exposed to a light source such as the sun

FIRST CLASS

Hides that undergo the Foglizzo First Class treatment are engineered to provide advanced flame retardant properties required by stringent aviation industry performance tests. To guarantee the best technical and aesthetic performance of the leather, all First Class treatments are permanently bonded to the material so that leather's look, feel and performance are preserved throughout its life.

H₂O

More information on foglizzo.com

Fibres with high resistance to and low uptake of moisture keep mold, mildew, stiffness and cracking away. The added benefit of abrasion resistance and easy cleaning bring you peace of mind and an added level of ease when caring for your leather.

These enhanced properties, when merged with its original softness and durability, will prolong the leather's beauty and durability over time. High-performance waterproof leathers are especially suited to outdoor and high traffic areas.

ACOUSTIC

Developed in collaboration with Squarciapino Acoustic Engineering, Acoustic is one of our exclusive micro-perforated products: it offers optimal performance for phono-absorbent panels. Acoustic leather guarantees high sound absorption for medium and high frequencies, promoting an overall sense of well-being and a physical feeling of comfort.
