Sensitile

Idea Book

“I repeat my vow

in unchanging colors of the ageless bamboo-which still creates ten thousand generations of shadows”

-Gyokuran

The above poem evokes the beautiful imagery of the author walking through the bamboo forest such that the air displaced by her moving body sets the more delicate bamboo stalks in motion, which in turn change the shadows they cast on the ground. Such a place would quietly and gently respond to one’s presence.

Sensitile was born from attempts to translate this poetic idea into the physical realm and make it available to experience.
