PANORAMA by ARBORITE

Modern farmhouse

A country kitchen is a working kitchen, laid out for the business of making, baking, and serving. So, go ahead: knead a few loaves of bread on those expansive countertops. Wash and can vegetables in the apron-front sink. Prepare those fixings on the professional grade stove. This space exists to nourish family and friends, so get cooking.

Nuvolato Marble
P-1013

Broad strokes of white and gray soften the look of this dramatic marble, a stunning choice for kitchens and bathrooms.

To complement your modern farmhouse kitchen

Saint Laurent Marble
P-1008

With white veining threading through a noir background, Saint Laurent Marble is luxurious and dramatic—a stunning companion to light or dark cabinetry.

Typhoon Bordeaux Crème
P-1005

A light granite, Typhoon Bordeaux Crème courses with russet veins and shimmering mica.

Antico Grigio
P-1012

A rustic granite with prominent veins, Antico Grigio offers intense gold and gray undertones that also suit Mediterranean-inspired kitchens.

Scandinavian Style

With natural materials that call out to be touched, these minimalist kitchens exude warmth and efficiency. Blond wood cabinets and veined marble countertops add visual interest to the neutral palette; cement floors and metal accents juxtapose smooth textures with the rough. The light hues complement each other, creating a calm, cozy atmosphere—a true sense of hygge.

Dreamcatcher
P-1018

Striated like tree bark, Dreamcatcher offers an organic look and visual depth lacking in most neutrals.

Cararra Venato
P-1015

Threads of silver, white, and taupe wind through this warm-coloured marble, making it an ideal partner for cabinetry ranging from light in colour to dark.

To complement your scandinavian style kitchen

Roman Travertine
P-1004

Deeply layered and characterized by pitted holes and troughs, this stone is peaceful, tranquil and serene.

Arabescato Marble
P-1000

Ivory white with rich veining, Arabescato Marble offers an understated elegance.

Mont Blanc
P-1009

A lightly veined marble, Mont Blanc is nearly translucent, with its layers of white and gray emitting a soft glow.

Industrial Luxe

Loft kitchens have evolved from their rough-and-ready roots, with upscale elements now balancing industrial touches. Contrast is key: pair smooth textures with rough, light hues with dark, and natural materials with man-made. Add plenty of built-in storage to keep surfaces—and your sightlines—clear.

Baroque Soapstone
P-1017

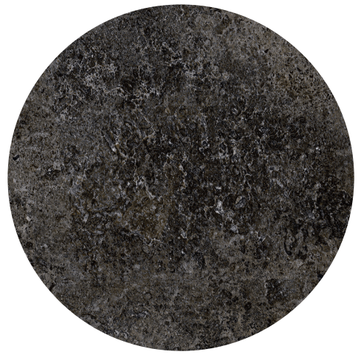

This serene, slate-gray surface marked with pools of white offers the beauty of soapstone without extensive upkeep.

Versailles Marble
P-1016

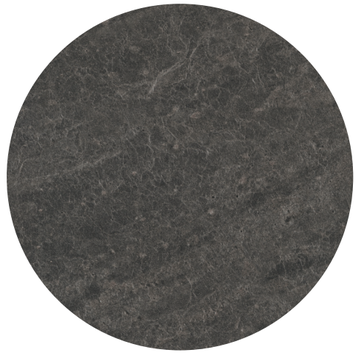

Glimmering veins of white and gold add a three-dimensional effect to this versatile option with gray undertones.

To complement your industrial luxe kitchen

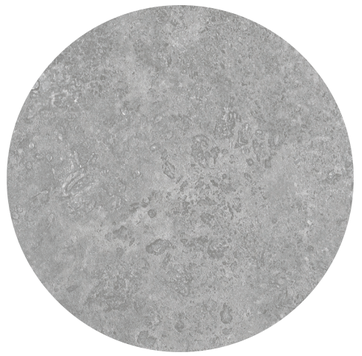

Industrial Loft
P-1011

Evoking the glazed look of oxidized metal, Industrial Loft combines light and dark shades and works well with matte textures.

Cinder Slate
P-1007

With subtle shifts in colouring that are less bold than marble or granite, Cinder Slate offers a stately, uniform appearance.

Cityscape Loft
P-1010

The colour of wet cement, Cityscape Loft is ideal for urbanites in search of a low-maintenance, industrial-inspired surface.

▲ ARCTIC ICE
P-395

Sparkle and quiet sophistication are what Arctic Ice has to offer. The cool gray undertones are an ideal foil to neutral cabinetry and stainless steel appliances, especially in condo or open-plan kitchens.

▲ ARCTIC SNOW
P-394

As bright and pure as its namesake, Arctic Snow adds luminescence to a monochromatic kitchen. Pair it with a textured tile to add visual interest, or introduce pops of colour for a playful touch.

◀ ARCTIC TUNDRA
P-396

With its creamy white base flecked with gray stones, Arctic Tundra is the ultimate supporting player. It's more visually interesting than a neutral solid, but won't upstage the room's architectural details.
